

OUR MISSION

Synergy Resources is committed to elevating the operational excellence of manufacturing companies by providing the expertise, guidance, training and software tools required to allow them to improve their core competencies in order to meet or exceed their overall business goals.

Our goal is to improve the productivity, profitability and market value of any company we work with.

It's very difficult to see the opportunities for improvement in your own company as you deal with the day to day issues.

Synergy Resources maximizes our customer's success by maintaining the highest quality of professional staff, educating them in continuous improvement techniques and methodologies, and utilizing the best software tools available.

Let 20 years of elevating operational excellence and commitment to the manufacturing industry point you toward moving your business performance to new heights.

Strategic Business Services

Continuous Improvement

Exceeding customer expectations

How would your Customers rate your Company's Price, Delivery and Quality performance?

In today's manufacturing marketplace, the gold goes to the company who can deliver quality product faster, at a competitive price. That means a focus on Value.

The biggest opportunity for business performance improvement lies within the identification and elimination of internal waste and conflict.

Our assessments, training programs, workshops, and Kaizen events deliver business improvement that is in line with your existing business strategy.

Strategic Business Services

The catalyst for effective change

Reaching out to a trusted business improvement partner to realize your full potential has become a natural response for many North American businesses. Strategic Business Services works directly with owners and key decision makers of small to medium-sized companies looking to improve their overall business performance.

Every manufacturing business has the potential to grow and succeed. By helping you tackle the challenges of today, we can prepare your business for tomorrow – removing the roadblocks to growth and higher levels of profitability while identifying new opportunities.

"In a time where manufacturing companies in America are struggling to survive, Synergy Resources Strategic Business Planning Program has provided our company with a roadmap to achieve World-Class performance. This program has re-energized our employees and our management team and focused our company on growth and efficiency through operational excellence."

Through the execution of this program we now understand the opportunities we have for improvement and we are excited about our future and the prospect of continuing our partnership with Synergy's Strategic Business Services team."

In Pursuit of Operational Excellence

Enable your quality management system to fulfill objectives and other requirements

The goal of your Quality Management System (QMS) is not to just comply with the applicable ISO standard(s). We believe your QMS should contribute to significant, sustainable advances in business performance and the overall competitiveness of the company and not be seen as an expense or burden to the operation.

"The Strategic Business Services division held an 8D Problem Solving Workshop at our facility. The workshop provided training and part of the session included breaking into teams and working on real problems in our company. The 8D program presented at the workshop contributed to immediate improvement in our problem solving activity, helping to lower cost and reduce lead-times."
