

The Synergy Center of Excellence

With rising costs and shortages in human resources the challenges of running an innovative and profitable manufacturing company in this high expectation, exceedingly competitive environment requires transformational thinking and a clear focus on people, process, technology, data, and interconnectivity. This creates a condition that requires all manufacturers to take a closer look at automation, supply chain collaboration, sales and marketing channels, digital analytics, ERP system optimization and of course the all-important change management.

“Today’s manufacturers face unrelenting demand for faster delivery, lower cost, and higher quality. This is not a new condition, but in the past good was good enough.”

While manufacturing companies have little to no control over the economy, they do have a choice when it comes to how they address these challenges in both a bull and a bear market.

This need creates demand for qualified solution providers with core competencies, capabilities and technologies that can help manufacturers “quickly” leverage needed advice, services, and products to improve operations.

This is where the Synergy Center of Excellence team has helped our customers excel in this new era of manufacturing by leveraging the power of Industry 4.0 and Lean in conjunction with their ERP system to dramatically improve their performance.

A New Era in Manufacturing is Here!

The “SYNERGIES” of Industry 4.0 and Lean are bringing the best of both worlds together. When used in conjunction with an optimized ERP system, manufacturers are realizing increased value-chain speed, manufacturing productivity gains, and substantial business process efficiency advances.

Synergy Resources is in a unique position to support our 1,000+ customers in this new era of manufacturing. By leveraging our extensive manufacturing knowledge, experience, and expertise our customers are realizing transformational improvements in their business and positive change in their people.

Together with our best of breed partners and advanced Industry 4.0 technologies, Synergy’s Center of Excellence has helped manufacturing industry leaders achieve operational excellence, meet business objectives, and realize their full potential.
